ISSUE 1

Why Are Girls Not Becoming Scientists?: Using Circumscription and Compromise Career Development Theory to Analyze Gendered Science Career Aspirations
L.K. Jones & R.L. Hite

Reflections on Two Years Teaching Earth Science at the Women in Science (WiSci) STEAM Camp
E.C. Adams, P. Oduor, A. Wahome, & G. Tondapu

“It Makes Me Wanna Go Out and Help People”: Enhancing African American Youth’s Perceptions of Engineering
J. Lakin, M. Mastrogiovanni, E. Davis, D. Marghitu, & V. Davis

Learning in Public and a Path towards Methodological Activism: A Conversation on Equity Research
J.P. Martin, S.K. Stefl, & A.E. Slaton

Special Issue: Reimagining STEM Higher Education Research Part 1
Guest Editors: Sarah Rodriguez and Walter Lee

Reimagining STEM Higher Education Research: Part 1
W.C. Lee & S.L. Rodriguez

Learning from Antiracist Theories to Reframe Engineering Education Research on Race

Revisiting the Complexity of Racial Understandings and Subjective Experiences of Race among Students of Color in STEM Higher Education: Toward a Racial Reappraisal Framework
E.J. Abrica

Legitimized Tongues: Breaking the Traditions of Silence in Mainstream Engineering Education and Research
J.A. Mejia, I. Villanueva Alarcón, J. Mejia, & R.A. Revelo

A Queer of Color Challenge to Neutrality in Undergraduate STEM Pedagogy as a White, Cisheteropatriarchal Space
L.A. Leyva, R.T. McNeill, & A. Duran

Reckoning with the Harm of Anti-Blackness in Engineering Education: A Reparatory Justice Research Approach
J. Holly, Jr. & L.T. Quigley

Special Issue: Reimagining STEM Higher Education Research Part 2
Guest Editors: Sarah Rodriguez and Walter Lee

Reimagining STEM Higher Education Research: Part 2
W.C. Lee & S.L. Rodriguez

A. Patrick, J. Martin, & M. Borrego

How Statistical Model Development Can Obscure Inequities in STEM Student Outcomes
B. Van Dusen & J. Nissen

Funds of Science Identity: Toward an Asset-Based Framework for Undergraduate STEM Research and Praxis
A.M. Wofford & J.A. Gutzwa

#SayHerName: Anchoring Black Feminist Epistemologies at the Crux of Postsecondary STEM Culture

Climbing Uphill: Toward a Common Agenda for the Advancement of Black Americans in Engineering

Positionality Statements Are Just the Tip of the Iceberg: Moving towards a Reflexive Process
J.P. Martin, R. Desing, & M. Borrego

Factors Impacting Engineering Advanced Degree Pursuit and Attainment among Black Males

Analyzing Signals of (In)Equity and Power in Engineering College Internship Advertisements
A.M. Wofford & K.N. Smith

Pathways to Computer Science at Community College: Single Mothers as Returning Students
L.A. Lyon

A Narrative Inquiry Approach to Community Cultural Wealth of Black Men in Engineering
V.B. Sellers, J.P. Martin, & M. Seraphin

An Analysis of URM STEM Students’ GPAs Relative to Good Teaching Practices
A.L. Mollet, J.M. Holmes, & J.L. Linley

Expectations vs. Reality: Reimagining the Engineering and Computing Doctoral Experience for Black Women
B.M. Spencer, S. Artis, M. Shavers, & S. LeSure

We See it Differently: Differential Perceptions of Workplace Diversity Climates for Women in STEM
